The screenshot shows the RIBA Appointments website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'Home', 'My Account', 'Job Search', 'Register CV', 'Email Alerts', 'Salary Guide', 'Login', and 'Employers'. Below this, the main content area is divided into several sections: 'JobSearch' with filters for location and job type; 'JobSeekers' with a list of recruitment agencies; 'Employers' with a list of services; 'CAD Courses' with a 'sprout media' advertisement; 'Career Support' and 'Future Trends Survey'; 'Follow Us' with social media icons; 'Part Of The Picture' with a photo of two people; and 'Job Of The Week' with a photo of a building.

The screenshot shows the RIBA Journal newsletter content. It features the RIBA Appointments logo and a headline: 'RIBA APPOINTMENTS – BRINGING YOU THE LATEST NEWS ON ARCHITECTURAL EMPLOYMENT'. The text discusses the architectural market, mentioning a significant influx to growth and a gradual brightening outlook. It also notes that the private residential sector continues to be a focus for increasing workloads, with an increase to 11% of practices surveyed expecting growth. A map of the United Kingdom is included, showing various regions. The newsletter also lists several job opportunities, including a Senior Expert Architect and Assistant Expert Architect, an Entry Cathedral Clerk of Works, an Experienced Part 2 Assistant Architectural Technicians, and Architects and Senior Architectural Technologists.

The screenshot shows the RIBA Appointments Twitter profile. The profile name is 'RIBA Appointments' with the handle '@RIBAJobs'. The bio states: 'Architecture jobs from the recruitment service of the Royal Institute of British Architects'. The profile shows 865 tweets, 891 followers, and 1,774 following. There are several tweets visible, including one about an Architectural Assistant position in Chelmsford, one about a position for an Interior Designer in Ashton, one about a position for an Interior Designer in London, one about a position for a Senior Interior Designer or Design Manager, one about a position for an Architectural Assistant, one about a position for an Architectural Assistant, and one about a position for an Architect in Bristol.
